News & Updates

Huruhuru Water Hole
Jul 2006

This is a project where there was a Huruhuru water hole that was being used as a swimming hole but unfortunately a couple of people were drowned.

So this project was to pour over 750 cubic metres of concrete into the hole to prevent people getting caught up in the under wash caused by the enormous volume of water that flowed through this area of stream after heavy down pours of rain.

This immense water flow was directly influenced by the Waitakere catchments as the Huruhuru stream is not very far away at all from the Waitakere Mountains.
